

A large, rectangular stack of white paper or cardstock is the central focus, resting on a light-colored wooden pallet. The stack is composed of many thin, uniform sheets, creating a textured, layered appearance. The scene is set in a studio or warehouse environment with a dark, textured background. To the right, a professional lighting setup is visible, featuring a large white umbrella light on a black tripod stand. In the background, industrial equipment and a person can be seen, suggesting a manufacturing or distribution context.
